ABASIAMA'S REPORT FROM CAMEROON, JULY 2012

Greetings to every one of you in Ellabell family and in the West African Missions' team. God bless you for always giving us your attention by way of reading our monthly reports. The progress recorded in the month of July is worthy of recounting.

Beginning with the news about our primary assignment, namely, seeking the lost, we are delighted to have been afforded the opportunity to lift Jesus higher through our preaching as we held out the word of life, whether among the heathen or among the brethren. By His grace many lives have been touched already we await a baptismal obedience when they are ready. Meanwhile, we are intensifying our outreach effort as well as praying that many more souls will come to know Him.

As people keep coming to the Lord through the combined effort of the workers in the vineyard, the increasing necessity for a better place of worship becomes more noticeable. For this reason, we doubled our effort in the building work of the Mile One congregation. The cooperation among the brethren is simply amazing. Look at this sister combining her strength and commitment to carry a bag of cement to the designated place for the mixing of the concrete to cast the beams and pillars. Could this summarily dismiss any doubt about the unbiblical claim that what a man can do, a woman can do, and even better? However, brothers Kervin, Fedinard, Richard and Felix wouldn't allow such a challenge by a "weaker vessel" to go uncontested. You can see some of them in their construction attire, literally under the sun and in the rain, laboring to realize our immediate congregational goal of banishing the payment of rental fee for a meeting place into the dustbin of the Mile One church history. With God's help, we get there as a church, knowing that success is a journey. Other congregations around us are of the opinion that the work is getting ahead so fast "because you people are giving your best to the project", to quote one member of New Town church in Limbe. If such an assessment is valid to any extent, then it seems to me that we are growing spiritually. Mike Mudock was on target when he said "giving is a proof that you have conquered greed". Please pray with us that this highly esteemed dream of the church concerning her meeting place become a reality someday and hopefully sooner. In addition to prayer, if there is any little way you can help the Mile One church to accomplish this great and ongoing undertaking, please do not hesitate to do so. Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much.

And much is already done by all of you, especially you whose devoted sponsorship of the spread of the gospel in Cameroon. By your committed contribution, you have assisted us to carry the burden of the great commission successfully all these years. Our work in Cameroon is a huge success today not because of the scale of our intelligence or ability, popularity

, but it is because of the helping hand the Lord has provided us through your charity and liberality. We will never take lightly this favor you have bestowed on the work and workers in our most cherished mission in West Africa. Thank you for using funds to assist people to heaven. On behalf of all the beneficiaries of your generous support, most especially the church, the orphans, and my family, I hereby thank every one of you for your various contributions to sustain the team work of preaching Christ in Cameroon. The world is blessed mostly by people who do things, not by those who talk about things and doing nothing. Our prayers always for you is that the glory of God will keep on shining in your way as you continue to play a fine role in bringing an everlasting change in the life of so many people in Cameroon.

Email from Nigeria – August 13, 2012

Hi brother Holloway,

Thanks. The Lord is working. The trouble was nipped in the bud. The conflict broke during the morning hour of Monday, but was between the Islamic militant and the military who tried to search a van they suspected were loaded with dangerous objects. One person was killed, and the trouble almost spilled on innocent people because one major road was blocked for hours, but God placed a circle around it. One major road was blocked for over three hours because of the disturbance. I was trapped in the middle, I had to go out through a risky road I have not passed through for years. The goodnews is that the Lord led me through. I never suspect that there will be trouble in the area I went to. Thank you so much for your prayers.

Grace and Peace,
Tom
